

Abstract

The present invention refers to a flat self-adhering plaster having a multi-layer construction and reduced cold flow, characterized in that the layer of adhesive possesses a core of adhesive being a flowable adhesive and a ring of adhesive being an adhesive having reduced flowability which surrounds the core.